'Ike' Wins Second Rosette For Rose Marie Linton

Ike and John F ate at the same trough and rode in the same truck and when the day was over Ike was the victor.

Only one vote was cast, but the one vote of judge Harold Stewart was unchallenged and the 905 pound Angus of Rose Marie Linton was declared winner of the Solanco Fair beef show

The angus dubbed Little Ike, was purchased last November from the herd of ex-president Dwight D Eisenhower and on Thursday won the second consecutive grand championship of the Solanco fair for the 18 year old daughter of Mr and Mrs Fred Linton, Quarryville R2

The Hereford champion was a 995 pounder named John F. and shown by Fred Linton Jr a brother of Rose Marie.

When the breed champions came out for the final reconing, the judge went to his reserve champion Angus for the runner-up spot in the show criticizing the Hereford for carrying too much finish.

Solanco Dairy Exhibit Has Three Repeaters

Three youthful dairy showmen repeated grand championship wins at the Solanco Fair dairy show Wednesday.

R. Edwin Harnish, Christiana R1, showed his cow, Monacacy-Ayr Dixie Rosemary, to her second consecutive grand championship of the show. The 16 year old senior in vocational Agriculture at Solanco High School collected a blue ribbon last month at the FFA district show at the Guernsey Sales pavilion east of Lancaster.

John Welk, Strasburg R1, took the grand championship of the Holstein judging with last year's runnerup in the show In the 1961 Solanco show John garnered both top spots with a mother-daughter combination, and came back this year with the daughter, Christine-A Stonehurst, to keep his win streak intact. "Chrissy" did not compete against her dam who was left at home this week with a three day old bull calf. John is the 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Welk, and is in the seventh grade at Lampeter-Strasburg.

Business-Farm Day Is Scheduled; Farmers To Entertain Businessmen

The annual Business-Farm day in Lancaster County is expected to draw over 350 Chamber of Commerce members to 50 county farms in October, it was announced by John E. McGrann, chairman of the chamber's agriculture committee.

The Senate has agreed to bring the compromise bill up for debate at 10 a m Tuesday where it is expected to pass, since the senate version is very closely related to the present House version.

Order Bulbs Now

Such bulbs as tulips and daffodils can be ordered now and this will help your dealer have them at planting time You may get fresher bulbs this way too, and many dealers do not have ideal storage conditions. After receiving the bulbs, Lynn B. Smith Penn State extension floriculturist, recommends planting them promptly, during comfortable planting weather

Deadly Gas

Nitrogen dioxide gas can be extremely harmful or deadly to humans and animals, warns Penn State Extension Dairy Specialist Richard Adams. It can sometimes be detected as a yellowish clod of irritating gas with an odor similar to laundry bleach. Being heavier than air, it tends to come down silo chutes to the silo room.

From Where We Stand . . .

Nothing As Constant As Change

There is nothing so constant as change

And there is nothing any more constant than the truth of that old saying

But nowhere is that change more in evidence than in farming.

There are many in agriculture today who long for the days when change was less swift and abrupt. There are those who would turn back the clock because they see the past through the misty eyes of nostalgia which strain out all the harsh realities and let through to the senses only the blind pleasantries of untroubled youth. There are those who would freeze time in its tracks and keep the status quo because of the leisure and relative freedom from stress of the present moment.

But change is part of our lives — part of our very existence Pretending that things have not changed or hoping that they will not change does not alter the fact that things have changed and that things will continue to change.

Now you know, and we wouldn't try to tell you different, not all change is good. Certainly, we know there were many things about the easy going days of the not-too-distant past that appeal to our senses of pleasure and well being

But all too often those wishing to cancel out all change are surrendering to the temptation to retreat to the mother-arms of self pity over missed opportunity and frustration with their own lack of accomplishment

We do not mean to advocate change for the sake of change, but we do not believe we should shut our eyes to the obvious If there is a better way of doing a job, and that will bring us the things we desire, we have to be ready to give up the old way, even if it means sacrificing something else we have long cherished

There are those who will argue that change is against the will of the Almighty Being

This reminds us of the old lady who was asked what she would like for her 100th birthday She said she didn't want anything in particular but when one of her children suggested that perhaps she would like to go for her first plane ride, she replied, "No, I'll just sit here and watch television like God intended for me to do"

Just so will there be opposition to every new or improved idea which is proposed in farming Most of the new ideas will have to be discarded after general use proves them impractical or obsolete, but that is just part of the change which goes on and on

A recent publication from the Pennsylvania State University concludes with these words, "Change is part of our existance, it won't go away Closing our eyes and refusing to adjust to it only stores up painful and ultimate reconing Awareness of it, and acceptance of the need to plan for it, permits guiding in the direction we want. Rewards are wider choices for richer, more satisfying lives"

We couldn't have said it better ourselves.

At least that's how it looks from where we stand

N.F.O. Holding Action

The National Farmers Organization has been called everything from a "Union of malcontents" to a "Communist inspired mob" by persons interested in seeing the farmers of this nation continue to struggle with professional bargainers in the world's marketplaces.

There are groups who have little to gain and much to lose if farmers and ranchers present a united front to the handlers and distributors of farm produce Many of these groups will use all the power of their huge financial and organizational forces to make the farmer look like the villian of the piece.

In any dispute, it is a rare case when either of the disputants is lilly-white, and we are not completely convinced that the holding action by the NFO is 100 per cent perfect, but at least the farmers of the midwest have shown that the farmer does not have to be driven like sheep through the world's market places.

We believe the farmer has as much right to set the price of his produce as the automobile manufacturer has to tell his dealers what the wholesale price of automobiles will be.

But the farmer can never have this privilege unless there is a united effort. The individual farmer can not make his small voice heard above the clamor of the pressure groups which handle and process his goods

What the NFO is doing may not be the total answer, but we believe it is an effort to do what needs to be done. It is an attempt to do what can never be done if farmers try to outwit professional buyers on the buyers' home grounds and with the buyers' set of rules

Every time it has been tried that way, the farmer got less of the consumer's dollar for his produce.

At least that's how it looks from where we stand.

The Best for God

Lesson for September 23, 1962

EVERY priest and every minister you see is what he is because he chose to be so. He follows what Roman Catholics call "Vocation" and Protestants a "Call," — that is, he believed it was God's will that he should be a priest or a minister as the case might be, and so he of his own free will followed the Spirit's guidance.

Dr. Foreman

In the old Hebrew days it was different. No man had to decide anything about a call to the ministry, that is to say the priesthood. A man was either born into a family of priests or not. If not, there was no way by which he could become one. On the other hand, if he was born the son of a priest, there was no getting out of it unless he was seriously crippled The effect of this, naturally, was that many men were priests who had no liking for their work and perhaps very little capacity for it. They would get through their work at the temple as quickly and easily as they could They were much more interested in the pay than in the service

God Wants the Best

This was the situation which the prophet Malachi faced. Religion was at a low ebb in Jerusalem and thereabouts People offered to God the least they could get by with With the priests' bad example before them, the every-day worshippers grew quite indifferent to the whole business or religion. God got the tag ends, tag-ends of services (lambs that were sick anyhow, for example), tag-ends of money, and probably small tag-ends of time Anything would do for God, it was thought Malachi tried to break through this piggish indifference We do not know how successful he was, but we do know what he tried to do He tried to help God's people recover the conviction that God is real, all-good and almighty. He is every man's best friend. The Israelites were not only treating God shabbily, they were actually robbing him. If a man wants his friend to have the best, what must we think—what must God think—of men who not only treat God and his laws and his service with contempt, and actually give God the worst instead of the best?

God Gets the Worst

This is not a parable from olden times. Its something we can observe in almost any church. Who gets the best of the church member's money? Not God, not always. The family car, the mortgage payments, clothes and parties to "keep up with the Joneses," one hundred and one things get the best of the family income, and they offer God, through his church, part of what's left after they have provided for everything else.

God gets the worst of time, too. Is time set apart for Bible reading an important part of the day? Is the time spent in Bible reading and prayer combined, as much as is spent in listening to the weather reports on the radio? Is the time set apart for personal religion a time when one is most wide-awake, or most sleepy? As for Sundays, the story is the same. The flimsiest excuses serve to excuse absences from church.

Test of Reality

Here's some one complaining that religion does not seem real, God doesn't seem real. No wonder! The test of the reality of a man's faith is not the nice words he sings about it in church. The test is in what he puts into it. This situation of boredom and lack of interest can't be cured first of all by putting more time and money into the church That comes later, not first The best of your talents; the best of your time, the best of your mind and heart for prayer and opening your mind to God's word, if you are willing to give that much, you will find your religion growing real.

There is one more thing that must be said, especially to fathers and mothers, teachers and friends of young people The boys and girls you love are your most precious possession — you may say But rightly speaking they are not your possession at all. God lent them to you Many a boy or girl who has wanted to enter God's service in the church, has been talked or bullied out of it by older people Don't rob God of his greatly needed helpers!

To Apply Lime This Fall

Small grains, that are to be seeded to alfalfa or clover next spring or next summer (not plowed) should receive any needed lime application If the lime is worked into the soil this fall the acidity can be corrected by next spring or summer, this is much better than applying the lime on top of the small grain or on top of the new legume seeding.

To Plow For Small Grains

Corn ground on which atrizine was sprayed for weed control should be plowed, rather than disced, for the seeding of any small grain this fall. With the dry season it is quite likely that some of the spray material has not been spent and may affect seed germination of the small grains.

To Realize The Danger of Silo Gas

This problem may appear on many drought-stricken farms where crops are put into the silo All livestock producers are urged to become acquainted with the properties of this deadly gas, warn all members of their families, and be on the alert for it's present at all times This GAS IS DANGEROUS

To Vaccinate Swine Against Cholera

There is considerable traffic in swine in southeastern Pennsylvania; much of the state's hog population is in the eastern counties Many growers are running a great risk by keeping un-vaccinated herds of hogs Modern vaccines and serums are safe and effective against hog cholera Hogs sick with cholera cannot be treated or cured All growers are urged to protect their investment and their business by vaccinating all animals.

their big punch over the week end and still weren't able to get out a big supply of livestock for Monday's market"

Packers claimed the drop in receipts at the big terminal markets was the result of lessened supplies of livestock on the farms rather than any action of the NFO, but farmer representatives said receipts at the smaller markets are down much more than market reports on the large markets indicate

Late this week, the National Farmers Union, whose officers had gone on record as saying the NFO action could not succeed, was reported considering joining the holding action by asking dairy farmers to withdraw milk from markets in an effort to force processors into a better price contract

Staley said the NFO is determined to continue the action until a contract is reached

Saving Vegetable Seeds

It isn't a good practice to save vegetable seeds from the home garden unless the grower is familiar with conditions and his plantings. Penn State Extension Vegetable Specialist J. O. Dutt warns that insects will carry pollen from one plant to another and possibility of cross-pollination is always present.

ALL "Certified" SEED IS NOT ALIKE

DON'T LET ANYBODY tell you all Certified seed is the same. There IS a difference! A. H. Hoffman Seeds, Inc is not only the largest producer of "Certified" winter grains in Pennsylvania, but the superior quality of Hoffman "Certified" seeds exceed the state certification standards by a wide margin.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Penna. Certification Requirements for Wheat		A. H. Hoffman's Certified PENNOLL WHEAT (3 year average)
99.00% (minimum) —	PURITY	— 99.75%
1.00% (max.) —	INERT MATTER	— 0.25%
90.00% (min.) —	GERMINATION	— 94.7%
58 lbs. (minimum) —	WT. PER BU.	— 61.5 lbs.

The certification tag is not enough. Hoffman tags on the seed you sow can mean bigger crop profits for you. That fact has been demonstrated over 60 years.

MARKET EGG PRODUCERS

EFFICIENCY PAYS

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

- A 12½% improvement in feed required per dozen eggs equals a saving of approximately $350.00 per 1000 hens.
- That our Early Bird All Mash Laying Feeds will definitely produce BETTER SHELL QUALITY over the laying year?
- That each ½% improvement in breakage can improve your income by $36.00 per 1,000 hens housed?
- A price improvement thru BETTER GRADE of ½ cent per dozen amounts to approximately $100.00 per 1,000 hens housed?
- If your feeding programs gives you 1% better hen house liveability and ½ dozen more eggs per hen housed, it can mean as much as $175.00 extra return per 1000 hens?
- That GOOD records pay big dividends? Without accurate records you CAN NOT fairly judge the value of your program?
- That it's not the START, it's the FINISH that counts.

Certified Seed Regulations To Be Reviewed

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning today said a review of seed certification and purity standards by the International Crop Improvement Association at its 44th annual meeting, Nov. 5-8 at Hershey, will be "in step with rapid changes that are taking place in all segments of agriculture.

C. F. Campbell, Harrisburg, Chairman of Arrangements, said attention will focus also on needs in research and on a variety of factors relating to seed production and distribution. Farm changes, he added, are affecting all phases of the seed industry. Commodity committees for the various seed species will study these standards with a view to revising and strengthening them as may be needed.

Seed certification in a period of accelerated agricultural adjustment will be the theme of a meeting Wednesday morning, Nov. 7, for seed growers and distributors, with Dr. Henry R. Fortmann, assistant director, Agricultural Experiment Station, the Pennsylvania State University, University Park, presiding. Speakers will include New Jersey Agricultural Secretary Phillip Alampi, Trenton, N. J.

Chairman Campbell, in charge of seed certification, Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, said more than 300 delegates from seed certification agencies in 45 states and Canada will attend. Wives will have a special tours program. Registrations start Sunday, Nov. 4. The convention will open with a Pennsylvania breakfast Monday, Nov. 5, and close with a banquet Thursday night, Nov. 8. All convention activities will be in Hotel Hershey.

Egg prices have shown a moderate price increase. Medium size eggs are now available in large supply and offer greatest value on a weight basic.

Mushrooms Are Subject Of Convention

Pennsylvania's $38,000,000 mushroom growing industry will be host to the fifth International Mushroom Congress to be held in Philadelphia Oct. 28 to Nov. 2.

The event will be the opportunity of a lifetime for mushroom growers to hear talks by authorities from nine nations, says Leon R. Kneebone, in charge of mushroom research at the Pennsylvania State University and chairman of a national committee organizing the Congress. He says over 600 commercial mushroom growers are located in 15 Pennsylvania counties.

Reports will be given by mushroom experts from the United States, Canada, England, Switzerland, Denmark, West Germany, Hungary, France, and the Netherlands Five speakers from Penn State will be featured.

As congress headquarters, Philadelphia is near Chester County, the world's largest mushroom growing area. Buses will tour the county on Oct. 31.

This occasion marks the first time the Mushroom Congress has been held in the United States Dr. Kneebone believes it will not be held again in this country for at least 15 years

BAKING SODA MAGIC

By Mrs. Richard C. Spence

Next time you measure baking soda into a mixing bowl to make a delicious chocolate cake, ask yourself What other cleaner would I dream of baking with? Or swallowing as a heartburn remedy — gargling and brushing my teeth with — bathing in to relieve a skin rash? Baking soda (pure soda bicarbonate) is unique among household products for its many divergent uses And not the least of them is cleansing.

Soda, the gentlest household cleaning aid, is ideally suited to 90 per cent of your cleaning day tasks — everything but heavy duty scrubbing and scouring Cleaning with soda prevents skin roughness often caused by strong soaps detergents and cleansers Because soda is pure and entirely odor free, it leaves no pungent after-odor on your hands In fact soda is an excellent deodorizer for your hands after you occasionally scrub with any of the modern-day chlorinated scouring powders

Here are some ways soda can be used to help you do a better job of housekeeping:

REFRIGERATORS AND FREEZERS

For inside surfaces sprinkle baking soda on damp cloth and wipe all surfaces including shelves and racks Rinse with clear hot water and dry Wash ice trays crisper boxes and all food containers in a solution of 3 tablespoons baking soda dissolved in 1 quart of warm water Rinse in clear hot water and dry.

COFFEE POTS, GLASS OR STAINLESS STEEL

not aluminum

Wash in a solution of 3 tablespoons baking soda dissolved in 1 quart of warm water or run coffee maker through brewing cycle using 3 tablespoons baking soda instead of coffee Rinse in clear hot water and dry well.

FOOD AND DRINK CONTAINERS

Lunch boxes, bread boxes, vacuum bottles, picnic jugs, ice buckets

Wash first in hot soapy water Sprinkle 2 tablespoons baking soda in each container. Partly fill with warm water and wash. Shake bottles well. Rinse in clear hot water. Rub corks of bottles with dry baking soda Dry containers but let bottles air dry.

SILVERWARE

For on the spot cleaning sprinkle baking soda on damp cloth and rub tarnished spots. Rinse well and dry. For electrolytic cleaning: spread a sheet of aluminum foil in an enamel pan Add 3 tablespoons baking soda and 3 quarts water Bring to boil; remove from heat and lower silver into the hot solution. Let stand a few minutes, then rinse in hot clear water. Dry thoroughly and polish with soft dry cloth.

TILED SURFACES

Sprinkle soda on damp cloth and rub bathroom or other tiled surface. Rinse with clear hot water, and tiles will gleam.

CRYSTAL AND CUT GLASS

Wash in a solution of 3 tablespoons baking soda dissolved in 1 quart of warm water. For stubborn stains make a paste of baking soda and water. Rub surface or use a soft brush. Rinse in clear hot water and dry with a soft cloth.

PLASTIC DINNERWARE

Sprinkle baking soda on a damp cloth and rub plastic ware Rinse in clear hot water and dry as usual.

QUICK HINTS WITH SODA

TO KEEP YOUR IRON READY FOR USE:

Rub that starch-stained iron with a cloth or sponge sprinkled with baking soda and all starch will disappear,

TO REMOVE BURNED FOOD FROM FRYING PANS:

Sprinkle generously with baking soda Cover and let stand a few minutes. See how easily the food rubs off.

TO STOP GREASE FIRES QUICKLY:

When grease catches fire in a skillet or boiler, throw baking soda liberally on blaze. Soda smothers fire by forming carbon dioxide gas which shuts out oxygen. Being a cooking ingredient soda does no harm to food, and can be rinsed away once the fire is extinguished.

SODA AS A COOKING AGENT

Baking soda was the first chemical leavening agent over a century ago. Today, it is still important for that purpose Originally it was used in combination with sour milk but today it is used with other acid ingredients such as molasses, fruit, honey, buttermilk or cream of tartar. In recent years vinegar has been used as the acid in conjunction with sweet milk or water. The advantage of using vinegar is that the acid content of this product is standard; therefore, by using a fixed proportion of vinegar to baking soda uniform results can always be assured The acid content of the other ingredients such as sour milk molasses is apt to vary; therefore, the final product may not always be the same.

Best results can be obtained when using soda by sifting it with the flour. This insures an even distribution through the batter.

Baking soda and acid, in addition to leavening the product, have a tenderizing effect on the proteins of flour; therefore, cakes and quick breads made with baking soda tend to be very light and tender while cookies are tender and crisp.

Better Breakfast Month

September, designated as better breakfast month, serves as a reminder to make a good beginning each day with a well-balanced meal. Nutrition studies show that persons can work and play at their best if they have between one-fourth and one-third of their daily food requirements at breakfast.

A basic breakfast pattern of fruit or fruit juice, milk or beverage made with milk, bread of cereal or both, and a protein food, egg, meat, or fish, will give your family a good start toward getting the nutrients each person needs

Frost Will Soon End Fresh Produce

Cool night-time temperatures forewarm us that we have but a short time remaining to enjoy so many fresh produce items from nearby farms An early frost could force cancellation of your plans to can or freeze vegetables, reveals Tom Piper, Penn State Extension Marketing Agent Better take advantage of these locally grown commodities before Jack Frost arrives.

Some late-season field of sweet corn are now offering a last chance for a corn boil or roast. tomatoes, beans, eggplant, peppers, summer squash, and most salad items will be gone with the frosts that are not far away. Of course, vegetables will continue to be on the markets, but they will be shipped from other areas and will probably bear higher prices than those grown near home Homegrown cabbage, celery, cauliflower and potatoes are plentiful and quite inexpensive to serve.

Fruit fanciers will be happy at the fruit counters this Fall for the choice is wide. Grapes — both the eastern and western grown varieties are now available. Buy them in quantity for juice and jellies Bartlett pears, bananas, and a growing list of apples,, including Summer Rambo, Smokehouse, Jonathan and McIntosh varieties are on the list of good buys this week.

Despite the publicity given to the recent withholding of cattle from the stock yards in the mid-west, supplies of most cuts are adequate Receipts of live cattle and hogs have shown an increase over last week; wholesale and retail prices should ease downward but not much this week.

Many stores are expected to feature red meats at promotional prices this week-end Round steaks, chuck roast and ground beef will be subject to promotion; pork loins and hams may receive similar treatment. Poulty prices are up, influenced greatly by the recent jump in red meat prices.

Storage stocks of cheese are high This commodity will be subject to promotion during October. Frozen orange juice, rice and cranberries have set new production records this year. Watch for vaules on these items.

Milk Facts Worth Knowing

Almost half the nation's milk supply is used as fluid milk and cream The other half is used in making ice cream, butter, cheese, nonfat dry milk and many other dairy products

Food economists often compare the proportion of the nation's food supply . . derived from each commodity group . . with the proportion of the consumer's dollar spent for each food group. Here's what they find . . . dairy foods rank at the top of this comparison and for this reason . . . while only a fifth of the food dollar is spent for dairy foods, more than a fifth of the total nutrients in the national food supply is derived from dairy foods

Good news for weight watchers is this dairy foods are relatively low in calories At the same time, no other food group furnishes the quantity and diversity of essential nutrients That means, dairy foods are packed with nutrients per calorie

How To Test Your Soil

A soil test is the best method of determining whether a field needs limestone. It is good farming practice to test the soil regularly.

1. How and where to get the soil:
   a. Take at least 12 samples throughout the field.
   b. Total soil of all samples collected should be about one quart.
   c. Take a thin slice of soil down to the following depths:
      Rotated cropland or where any crop is to be planted — six inches.
      On fields now in permanent pasture — three inches.
2. Dry the quart of soil by spreading out on newspaper (do not heat it).
3. When dry, screen out the stones with a flour sifter or fly screen.
4. Place remainder in a clean freezer bag or box, or paper carton (do not use a tin can).
5. Print or write on the container the following:
   a. Your name and address.
   b. Field identification.
   c. Crop for which recommendation wanted.
   d. Rotation used on the field, if any.
6. If working under the Agricultural Conservation Program, take the sample to the county agricultural extension office. Build Milk Production . . . hold body condition with COW CHOW D

Purina Research developed Purina Cow Chow D, the high-efficiency milking ration, to do two things: (1) increase milk production, (2) bring cows through their lactations in good condition, ready to drop a husky, normal calf after a reasonable dry period.

Cow Chow D delivers on both counts! In many Eastern herds, milk production has gone up well over 2000 pounds per cow in a ten-month lactation on Cow Chow D. And it's helping cows go into their sixty-day body-conditioning, calf-building dry period in good shape — ready to come back strong and continue to milk heavily after calving.

Stop in and let us tell you more about Cow Chow D. Let us help your cows make more milk . . . and more money for you.

Do you know . . .
WHY PURINA'S PIG PARLOR PAYS?

The Purina Pig Parlor, introduced just a few short years ago has raised the hog's standard of living. As a result of this revolutionary step in the hog industry, today many hogmen are using some phase of confinement finishing.
This method of finishing hogs took them out of the mud — increased their efficiency. The experts predict the trend continuing toward more Pig Parlor operations because of price of land, labor, efficiency and ease of sanitation. Next time you're in town drop by our store with the Checkerboard Sign and ask about Purina Pig Parlor plans.
